Job description and person specification criteria

This post is supported by a job description and person specification. Please read these carefully. The person specification lists the essential skills, experience and qualifications, which are necessary for the job. These are the criteria against which you will be assessed. You should pay particular attention to these criteria and demonstrate how you meet the requirements of the job in your application form and at the interview.

You should give specific examples in each box of how your skills knowledge and experiences meet the corresponding person specification criteria.

When we shortlist, we can only use the information that you provide and if you do not describe how you meet all of the criteria you may miss the chance of being shortlisted for a job that you might be able to do. Please make your case clearly and concisely in the fields provided.

Please ensure that you give evidence and examples of how your skills knowledge and experiences meet the shortlisting requirements

Disability

A disability does not preclude consideration for the job, and applications from suitably qualified or experienced persons with disabilities are welcome. All information provided by applicants will be treated as confidential.

Do you believe that you have a disability as described by Section 1 of the Disability Discrimination Act 1995 (i.e. “a physical or mental impairment which has a substantial and long-term adverse affect on your ability to carry out normal day-to-day activities”)?

If yes, please describe what arrangements we will need to make to:

a) ensure that we can interview you effectively if you are shortlisted for this post

b) employ you if you are successful in your application for this post

--

It would be helpful to us if you could describe your disability to us, but failure to do so will not be held against you. The information will be used to ensure that we are better able to provide a suitable working environment for you, if you are appointed.

Health

A health problem does not necessarily preclude consideration for the job and applications from suitably qualified/experienced persons are welcome. All information provided by applicants will be treated as confidential.

Do you or your dependents have a health problem that is relevant to your application?

Equality & Diversity Monitoring

The Free Church wants to meet the aims and commitments set out in its equality policy. This includes not discriminating under the Equality Act 2010, and building an accurate picture of the make-up of the workforce in encouraging equality and diversity.

The organisation needs your help and co-operation to enable it to do this, but filling in this form is voluntary.
